Mrs. Marshall was a Christian and life-long active member of the First United Methodist Church in Obion until her health declined. She raised four children in the church and set an example of a Christian life by her work in the church and community. She often sang for weddings, funerals and special occasions. She was a longtime member of the Obion Music Club.

She was a gifted artist, talented seamstress, and tireless quilter. Catherine was always creating through drawing, gardening, sewing, or quilting. She was a wonderful seamstress and made clothes for her children. She loved making quilts and made many for her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. Her creativity was evident in her quilts.
